During halftime ceremonies, Kelly Boulter, Presi-

Marysville seized the opportunity and was victorious over Cros-Lex with a score of 52-0.

Student Council Officers

The Student Council officers displayed leadership and good organization for the 1987-88 school year. Kelly Boulier, President of Student Council, said, "Student Council is the foundation of our high school activities. It's a lot of hard work being a President, but I get a lot of help from the officers. Together we managed to do a good job in fulfilling our responsibilities." The new idea of a merit system was put into effect this year. It was thought of by Kelly and Vice-President Tawny Closs. It kept all of the members of Student Council active and gave them credit for how much they did. Tawny's comment was, "I enjoyed being involved in school activities as the Vice-President."

Chrisy Cubitt was the secretary and Kailonnie Dunsmore was the treasurer. Kailonnie adds, "I like being involved and helping to organize school activities." She helps the President and other officers in their duties as well as keeping track of finances.

The Student Council took part in organizing much of the Homecoming, Blood Drive, fund raisers, food drives, a Christmas dance, and other activities.

Steve Horbes, Treasurer; Tammy Duncan, President; Melissa Mallwitz, Secretary; Ken Steele, Vice-President.

The Senior year is the busiest year for students. It takes responsibility and good leadership to organize all the activities and events that take place.

The Senior class President for the 1987-88 school year was Tammy Duncan. She had many duties as President and played an important role in making the year successful. Tammy replied, "I loved being President of the Senior class!" Some of Tammy's responsibilities were organizing the Homecoming float and Senior prom. She arranged steering committee meetings and informed the class of upcoming events. She was in charge of fund raising activities, making sure the money was being used properly, ordering T-shirts, planning for high school reunions, and getting things ready for the big graduation day. Tammy also comments, "All the officers did a great job and the whole class participated and were very involved this year!" She worked very hard and hopes she pleased everyone.

Vice-President Ken Steele said, "I like being the Vice-President because it gets me more involved in school activities and meeting other people." Ken also helps the President in her duties and activities. Melisa Mallwitz was the secretary. She put a lot of hours into typing. She took attendance at the meetings and made a list of all the topics discussed at the meetings. The treasurer, Steve Horbes, commented, "It was a real thrill handling the money for our class."

Senior members show maturity on the merry-go-round.

There were three foreign exchange students for M.H.S. this year: Patrik Hogenas from Sweden, Per Hindsberg from Denmark, and Tanja Merkel from West Germany. Each one of them said they really enjoyed attending M.H.S. in the United States. They commented on how much more involved our students were in school activities and athletics.

One thing that was hard to get used to for them was the slang terms people used or even just a simple "Hi, how are you?" or "Hey, what's up?" seemed strange to them because when they would turn to answer, the person would be walking down the hall, not expecting an answer. In their countries, people are not as friendly as that. They just say an occasional "Hi" and that's it.

Another difference is the number of television channels we have compared to the few that their countries have. Denmark has three or four, West Germany has seventeen, and Sweden has only two, which are from 6 PM to 12 PM. They are state owned so there are no advertisements either.

They do not have some of the common things we do, such as, yearbooks, class rings, Homecomings, and certain holidays like Halloween.

Their schools are different in many ways. Tanja said that her school went from 8 AM to 1:35 PM and they don't have any lunch breaks.

Patrik and Per said that their schools give students more freedom, similar to college, but here at Marysville the teachers are more concerned and have a better relationship with their students. They also give them more individual time.

These students may have learned a lot from coming to our country and going to M.H.S. but they are not the only ones who have gotten benefits. The Seniors of 1988 and the underclassmen have learned a lot from talking to them, and getting to know them. Our class was very honored to have Patrik, Tanja, and Per at our school and we hope they enjoyed their stay here in America.

Senior Float Shows Creativity

The Senior float building had a successful outcome. The Senior float took first place by using a toilet to comply with the overall theme of water. The Senior's theme was "Flush Out the Pioneers."

Not only did this float show a great deal of originality by using a toilet, but the use of plastic flowers was a definite plus. Although the weather was clear, many past parades and Homecoming games have been rained on, and by the end of the day, the floats are soggy and almost uniden-tifiable. If rain had been a factor in the '87 Homecoming, the seniors' waterproof float could have withstood it.

The float building was held at Michelle Lomerson's house on Michigan Avenue. It was an ideal spot because it was set back from the road several hundred feet.

Much of the senior class participated in the flower parties and float-building, and their organization showed in the finishing of the float with no last-minute dilemmas or problems.

The first place Senior class float wants to "Flush Out The Pioneers!"

The Senior class of 1988 finished thirteen years of school. Graduation was granted to those students who successfully completed the minimum requirements of forty credits.

There were many highlights during the year. Most offices were held by Seniors. The Seniors built the winning float for Homecoming. The play "Bride's Bouquet" was presented on Nov. 20-21. There was Coming-Home and spirit weeks. The Senior prom was held at Thomas' Crystal Gardens.

Finally commencement ceremonies were held. The class of 1988 reflected on their accomplishments and looked forward to new opportunities to excel toward their individual goals. Some planned to seize the opportunity to go on to college. Others planned to take advantage of the business world. The opportunities were endless for the Marysville High School graduate.

MEMORIES

The emptiness that comes with just the memory of your touch,

Stirs a sad feeling that says, "We miss you very much."

Our special moments that we've shared, show how much we really cared.

Graduation without you will not be the same,

Hearing them call everyone, not hearing your name.

You have found a special place with no suffering or tears,

A place to spend the rest of your years.

We reach out our hands for comfort and cheer,

Knowing in turn that you will comfort and hold us near.

Friendship is a priceless gift,

Something that is an everlasting lift.

So many of your dreams that we were never told,

Have now turned into gold.

Not a day goes by that we don't think of you.

We are rich with happy memories of the things we used to do.

We hold you close in our thoughts and prayers,

Thanking you for always being there.

Separation cannot destroy our memories of you, and everyone that knew you, too.

CLASS SONG

I WONT FORGET YOU by Poison

Late at night I close my eyes
And think of how things could have been,
And when I look back,
I remember all those words you said to me.
It's better to have loved and lost
Than never to have loved at all.

Chorus:

I won't forget you, babe.
I won't forget you
Even though I could.
I won't forget you, babe.
I won't forget you
Even though I should.

Sometimes in my head
I can still see visions of you,
And I laugh to myself,
When I think of all those crazy things we used to do,
Although miles come between us,
Just between you and me.

Chorus

I should have let you fade away,
But that just wouldn't be me.
Oh, baby!
Although miles come between us,
Just between you and me.

Tina Pond walks proudly on Homecoming night.

This year's 1987-88 Junior Homecoming Representative was Tina Pond. Tina is on the Varsity Valhallas squad. She said that she "likes to spend time with friends."

When asked how it was being on the court, she said, "I really had a lot of fun. I got to know the other people on the court better."

Class Officers

Junior officers Gayle Emigh, Dawn Jozwiak, Kim Allen, and Tom Herbert.

Tom Herbert
The Junior class elected Tom Herbert as their President. During this past year, Tom has been an active member of the golf team. He also holds down a job during the summer at the Marysville Driving Range. When asked to comment about being President, he said, "I like having a lot of responsibility and being somewhat in charge." He also said he "likes the people he works with and is having a great time."

Kim Allen
Kim Allen was elected Vice-President for the Junior class. She enjoys playing basketball and softball. Her hobbies are spending time with friends and playing sports. Kim said that "we are getting the Junior Prom organized right now." When she was asked to comment on the Student Leadership Training Academy, she said, "It really helped us out a lot to attend because it helped us to run our meetings better and more organized."

Gayle Emigh
Gayle Emigh is the Junior class Treasurer. She said that "there was a lot of responsibility, but I had a good time being treasurer." Gayle worked on the yearbook this year and also holds a job at Plums. She commented on the preparing of the Junior Prom by saying, "it's really hectic and hard to organize, but we're sure everyone will have a great time."

Dawn Jozwiak
Last, but certainly not least, is Secretary Dawn Jozwiak. Dawn said that "this year we got a lot accomplished. We didn't have much money in our class bank at the beginning of the year, but we worked hard to increase it." She enjoys hanging out with friends and going to work.

Homecoming Float

The Juniors' Homecoming float is ready for the big parade.

The Junior float may not have come in first place, but they sure had a great time building it. Treasurer Gayle Emigh said that "we had a lot of team work and participation. Everybody pitched in and we had a lot of fun."

Fund Raising

This year the Junior class had the opportunity to work the concession stand at the home football games. The Junior class Treasurer, Gayle Emigh, said that they earned "$700-$800" this year. Part of the earnings were spent on the Junior Prom.

The crowd eats the food made at the concession stand.

Officers Take Charge

The Sophomore class president this year was Patty Pozios. As president, she was in charge of float-building and the class fund raisers.

"No one knows who we are unless something goes wrong. I'm glad that everything went smoothly," said Patty.

Patty is a varsity Valhalla and also likes to stay involved in Student Council.

Supporting Patty was class vice-president Sheila Lepak. She helped with the Homecoming float and fund raisers.

"As freshmen and sophomores we don't do much except raise money for our junior and senior years."

Sheila enjoys playing basketball, volleyball, and softball. Skiing and photography are among her other interests.

The man behind the money was treasurer Kevin Quinlan. He kept the class updated on the amount of money they earned. "We've done well preparing for our last two years of high school."

Kevin is on the golf team. In his spare time he likes to bowl and also he has a job at the Four-Star Restaurant.

This year's secretary was Sue Berger. She submitted announcements to the office and helped with the other events.

Sue plays basketball, volleyball, and runs track. She likes to go skiing and spend time with her friends. "We've worked hard to get ready so our junior and senior years will be exciting and fun."

We're In The Money

The Sophomore class fund raiser this year consisted of selling candy bars. Mrs. Gaye Venia was the class advisor involved.

"Mrs. Venia did a lot to help us out both this year and last," said Kevin Quinlan, class treasurer. "If it wasn't for her, we'd probably be broke."

It is this help that inspired the Sophomore class officers to nickname her "Mrs. Convenience."

As freshmen, the class began with $68.00 in their treasury. They jumped to over $1,500.00 in the past two years. The money will be used for future activities such as the junior prom.

Sophs "Seal" Second Place

The Sophomores capped their Homecoming week with a second place finish in the float-building contest. The float was a seal entitled "Vikings Seal A Victory." It was assembled at Robyn Smith's house.

"We had fun building the float," said Panny Eveningred, one of the many float-builders. "I'm looking forward to helping build next year's float."

The Sophomore class elected Angela Gordon as their Homecoming representative. She was escorted by Joe Eaton.

"It was the highlight of my Sophomore year," said Angela.

An Interview with a Freshman

Joanna Quaine

"It's okay to be a freshman and it's better than I thought it would be. When I first walked in the high school, I felt small. At the high school there is more freedom and at lunch more people to meet than at the junior high. I like the high school, the days go by a lot faster, but it's a bit bigger."

Christy Headlee

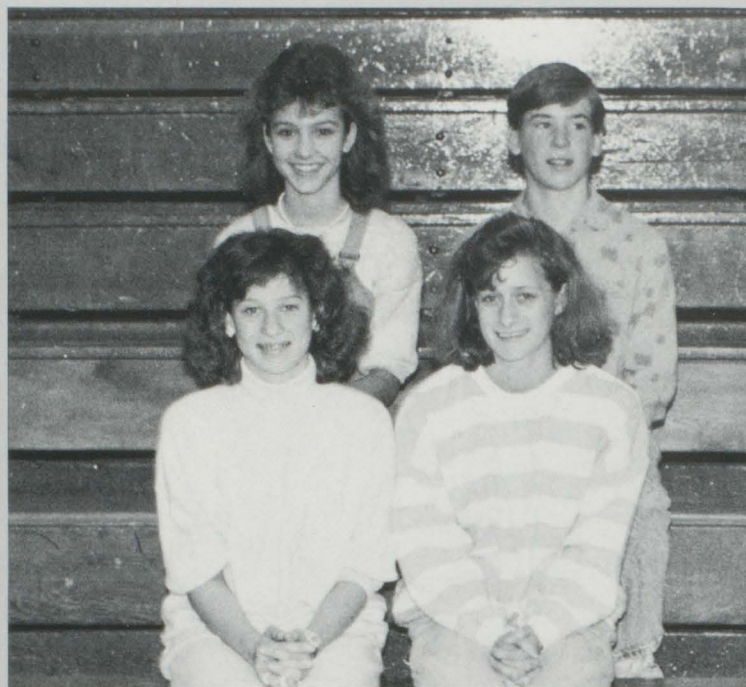

"I guess it's okay to be a freshman. It's a lot better than I thought it would be. The high school is okay; different than I thought it would be. More freedom, it's a lot bigger and there are a lot of new people. When I first walked in the high school I felt like I was real small."

Heather Lane

"Being a freshman, especially for me, has been scary, yet it's fun. I've made lots of new friends. When I first walked in the high school, I thought it would be a big challenge for me. At the high school, teachers treat you like adults instead of little kids. I think it's great and I hope to have a lot of fun in the years to come at M.H.S.!"

Officers

Heather Bellow is the class President and also the 1987 Homecoming princess. Heather was surprised when she was elected as the Freshmen class President. She said that she was impressed with her classmates and their help on building the float. Heather enjoys being the Class of '91 President.

Heather said, "The class is very good and when they're asked to do a job, they will do it if it kills them. I went to the Homecoming dance with Brian Catlin, who is also the Vice-President. It's okay to be a freshman, but the first few days everyone picked on me because I was, but the rest is okay. It is very different over here at the high school because you get to do different things every day, not like the junior high where you do the same things over and over again."

"I'm enjoying being the class Vice-President." Brian Catlin said. "The classes in the high school are very hard and the teachers expect more of you than they did when you were in junior high, but the day passes a lot faster too. I enjoyed the Homecoming as much as Heather did, and I'm looking forward to the next one. The float was okay, but it needed work on things, but what can you say except it was original!"

Freshmen Homecoming

Heather Bellow was the 1987 Homecoming princess for the freshmen class. Heather enjoyed the Homecoming. Heather said that it was fun being part of it all because she hasn't ever been in anything like this before. She was really surprised, happy and could not believe it. When Heather first walked in the high school she was out of place because everyone looked down on her because she was a young freshmen. "Brian Catlin was my escort to the parade and Homecoming dance. We had a lot of fun. It was an experience we'll never forget."

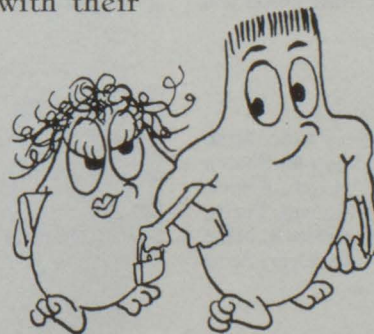

"The float was really good and I was impressed with the classmates because they worked hard and they also had a lot of fun. The float was built at Brian Webb's house and his parents were very friendly with all of those people coming in and out. At the high school there is more freedom, but harder work and they treat you much older and the kids treat you much older and the kids act more mature." Heather commented.

Float Building

The class of '91 is a very hard working class, organizes things well and has a good follow through. When asked to comment on their float, Ms. Butler said "I was really impressed with their float, because they worked very hard and with creativity and also made work fun and they should have taken first place. I was really pleased with the help of the other class advisors that helped the freshmen class with their float building." The class advisors are as follows: Ms. Butler, Ms. Fedraw, Mrs. Kiefer, Mr. McKeand, Ms. Standel, Mr. VanTiem, Mr. Wildermuth, Mrs. Seddon, and Mr. Domke. "The freshmen class adjusted to the high school very well and I'm looking forward to the next three years as their class advisor." stated Ms. Butler. The float theme was "Desert the Pioneers".

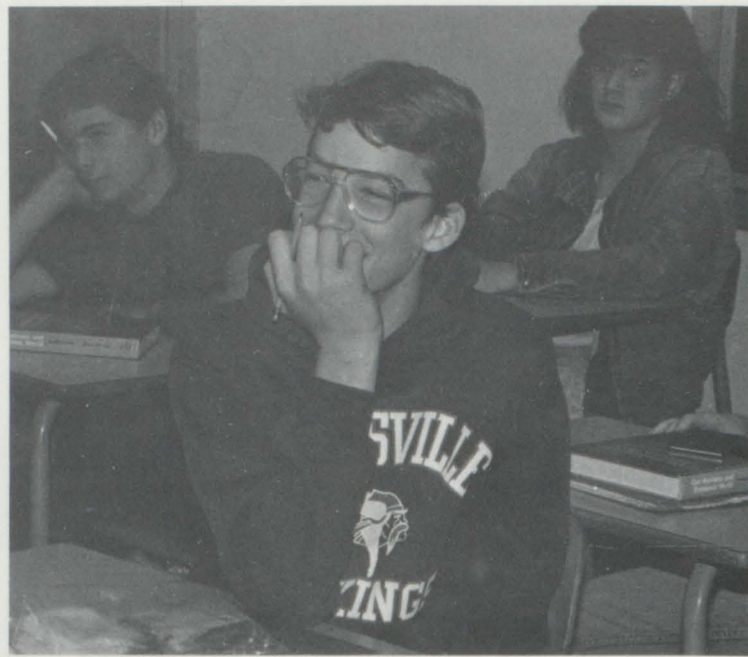

The Freshmen float placed third in the Homecoming Parade.

The staff members at Marysville High School hold a unique position. They have the opportunity to influence tomorrow's leaders by imparting their knowledge and experience on today's students.

Staff members represent a significant link in the chain of learning that all Marysville High School students will follow. The information presented by teachers during high school will influence the futures of the students.

In the following section, there are comments from teachers dealing with the opportunities that their subject areas offer. But always keep in mind that "The opportunities are endless with an education."

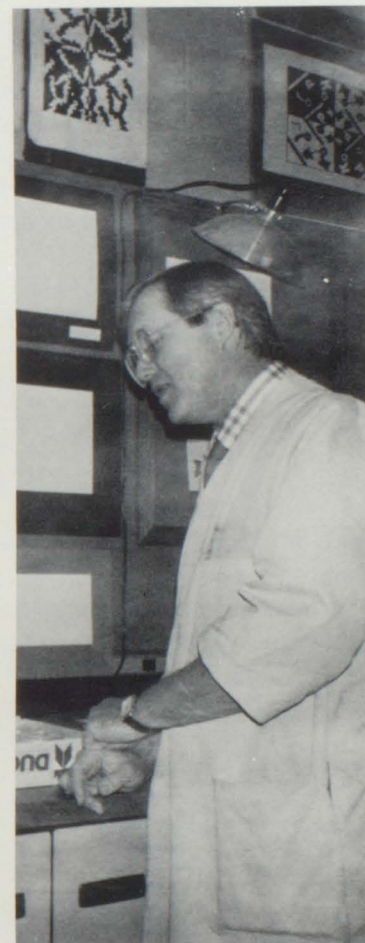

STAFF

Business teacher, Mr. Goetz, accompanies the class officers at a leadership conference held at the Intermediate School District.

Mr. Gilbert discusses the proper use of supplies in lettering class.

“Opportunities are endless with an education.”

Mr. Charles S. Andrews

Superintendent of Schools

Opportunities come to us in many ways. They come at different times in our lives, some expected, most unexpected.

The Chinese language has a symbol which is used to describe "crisis." The symbol is a combination of two symbols, danger and opportunity.

The events which have the greatest impact on our lives are those that come unexpectedly and carry with them some measure of risk. If our reaction to these events are to back away and fail to accept the challenge we will not take advantage of the opportunities they provide.

In your daily contacts as students and as members of the Marysville Community, you are faced with opportunities every day. Opportunities occur daily for recognition, learning and growth if you take advantage of the opportunities and dedicate yourself to doing the best you possibly can.

Accept the challenge of making the most of every opportunity. Especially accept the challenges and the opportunities offered at Marysville High School.

MR. JOSEPH GROSSER
PRINCIPAL

In my ten years at Marysville I have learned to appreciate what this high school can mean for those who take advantage of what we offer. In a word, Marysville High School is synonymous with the term "OPPORTUNITIES".

I have never been in an atmosphere which allows each of its students to become whatever he or she wishes to become more than Marysville. The academic offerings are better than most Class B schools our size. The co-curricular activities are second to none in the State.

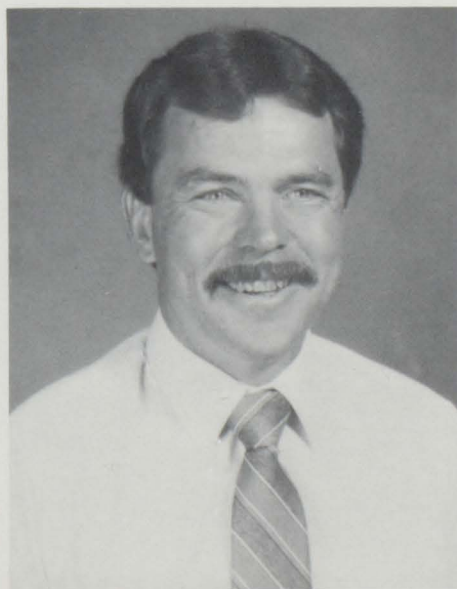

An OPPORTUNITY is like an apple. It's there for those who are looking for it. It takes effort to acquire it even when spotted on a tree, and in microscopic percentages, falls on the heads of people who don't want to realize it is there for the taking...if only there is a willingness to spend the time and energy to take advantage of it.

MARYSVILLE & OPPORTUNITY are one in the same...for those willing to open their eyes and take advantage of the fruit.

MR. THOMAS HADDEN
ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL

There is a great deal of truth in the statement - "Weak people wait for opportunities; strong people make them!" As educators - it is believed that we should do all we can to assist and guide young people to seek out and/or create opportunities.

MR. JAMES VENIA
ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

"Opportunities - the favorable or advantageous combination of circumstances." What a great way to describe life in Marysville High School. We are very lucky to experience the possibilities, occasions, facilities, and chances that are available to us at Marysville High. OPPORTUNITIES! Grab them. Enjoy them! Respect them! Be thankful for them!

Keep The School Moving

These people together make a team that serves the students and staff in many different ways. Whether it's cooking, cleaning, or driving to school, they are all making Marysville High School a better place to be for everyone. The students of Marysville High thank all of them for everything they do.

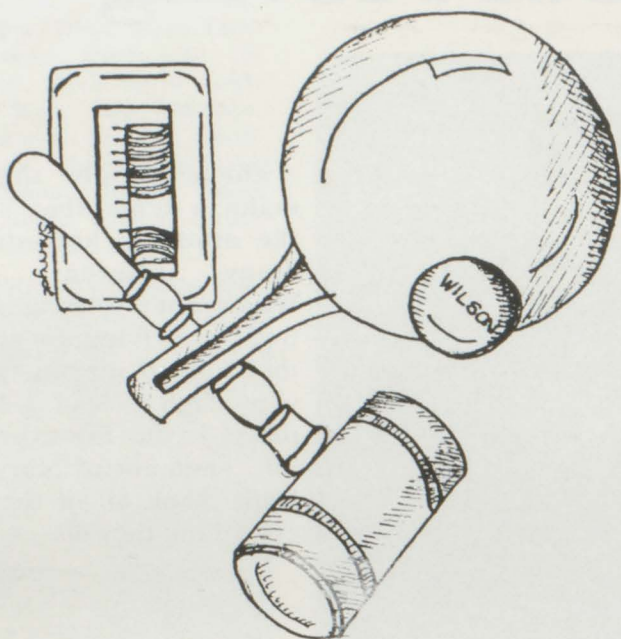

Mr. Bob Harkleroad, Mr. Richard Farnsworth, Mr. Richard DeNardin.

Mr. Richard DeNardin takes a break from his arduous job.

Mr. Marlyn Kelch (Baldy) helps out in the kitchen.

The many activities at MHS allow for the opportunity to share time with friends. Clubs allow students to participate in activities which they enjoy. Whether it's Quiz Bowl, Yearbook, or Varsity Club, the student has the opportunity to excel at the level of his or her own ability.

This break from books allows students to take time out from their studies and enjoy their high school years. Although a student is not learning from a book, he is still acquiring knowledge and valuable experiences through other students. By participating in activities, students make friends while doing something they enjoy.

The wide range of activities offered at MHS afford every student the opportunity to get involved. After graduation students may or may not remember the courses they selected, but they will no doubt remember the times shared with friends.

In December, they had a balloon sale and sold 320 balloons with only ten members selling them.

Later on in the month, the council managed a blood drive that set a new record in obtaining eighty pints of donated blood.

During the Christmas season the student council organized and directed a food drive for the Salvation Army.

The members also went caroling at the children's shelter and at two hospitals.

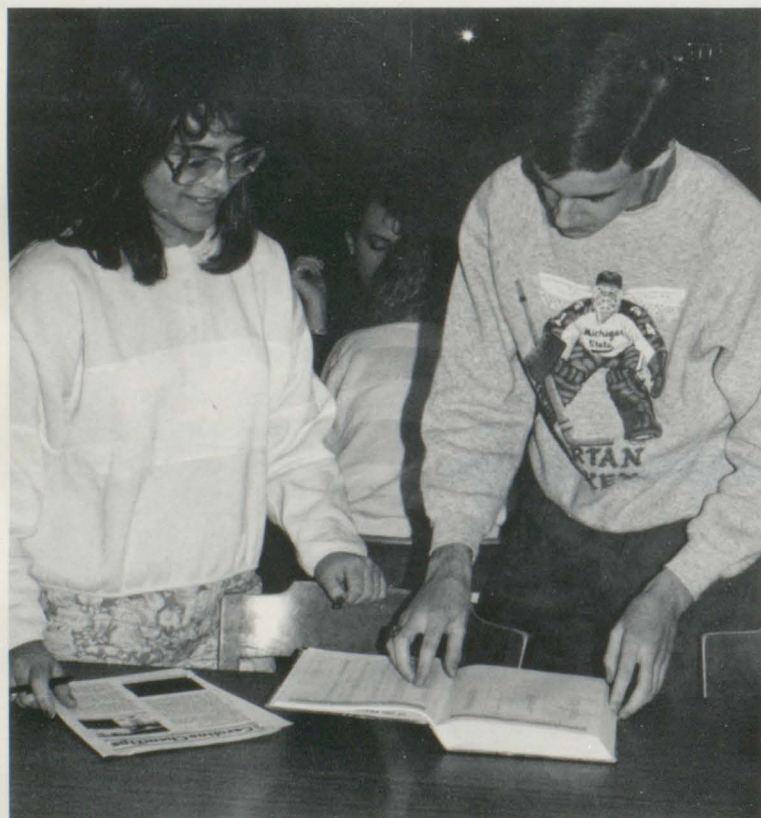

Mr. Tom Hadden, advisor and assistant principal, addressed them and said, "I'm darn proud of these guys. You've done a terrific job this year. Keep up the good work."

Imagine what it would be like to put together a year of memories. Well, let me bring you beyond the doors of Room 200. From the very first day, you begin to experience the work that is put into a yearbook. It begins with selling ads and doing the opening pages. It takes a lot of patience to put together a yearbook.

This year the staff chose "Opportunities" as the theme throughout the book. Steps were taken to tie the theme in with stories and titles.

This year's editor was Heather Moncher. Heather is in charge of helping students learn steps to doing the pages and just generally supervising the preparation. Mr. Schmorow is also dedicated in keeping the class in order and getting things done.

This year's staff consisted of three 4-year veterans. These dedicated students spent their four years of high school experiencing the joys of completing a yearbook, year after year. These three students were Heather Moncher, Kristy King, and Laurie Hand.

So that concludes a background of what goes on in preparation of a yearbook. You may say it is hard work, but in the end, it is really rewarding.

Heads of the Class

Senior Heather Moncher served as the Editor-in-chief of the 1987-88 yearbook. She was a four-year veteran having served as the Life Touch photography correspondent and underclassmen editor her sophomore year and Editor-in-chief her junior year as well.

Her responsibilities included: 1) assisting the advisor, 2) assigning pages to the yearbook staff, 3) overseeing other editors, 4) assisting yearbook staff, 5) Helping to develop and maintain enthusiasm, interest, and willingness to work, 6) Coordinating all phases of the yearbook production and keeping a progress chart, 7) Setting up deadline schedules, 8) Assuming responsibility for completion of deadling work, 9) Proofreading all layouts and copy.

She comments, "I really feel positive about the 1988 yearbook and hope that my experience will somehow contribute to the quality of it."

Kristy King was the Advertising Editor for her second year. She has been on the yearbook staff for four years. She organized the selling of ads and help designed the ad to be business satisfaction. She said "It's been an experience in learning responsibility and I'm glad I had the opportunity because it will help in the long run."

Stephanie Moore, a junior, has been the Business Manager for the last three years. Her responsibilities have been to keep all records, process bills, and collect payments. She is also on the cheerleading squad and the softball team. She likes to watch sports in her spare time.

Robin McLeod, a sophomore, was the Faculty and Administrative Editor. She was in charge of getting candid photos and formal photos of all the teachers and staff. She was in yearbook for two years and commented that "It was fun and definitely different from anything else I had ever done. I really liked it." In her spare time she likes to draw, read, and sing in the church choir.

Chris Berdan and Kevin Quinlan, both sophomores, were the Photography Editors. They were in charge of taking, developing, and printing pictures. They also had to make sure that everyone had the necessary photographs for their section. They were both on the golf team and enjoy watching football and basketball games.

Sherry Lindke, the Senior editor, is also very active in sports, draws, and plays the piano in her free time. "Being the Senior editor for the yearbook is a lot of hard work, but it's also a lot of fun," she commented. She had the responsibility of laying out the entire Senior section.

Gayle Emigh, a junior, was the Underclassmen Editor. This was her second year on the yearbook staff. Her responsibility was the identification of approximately 500 underclassmen. In her spare time she likes to ski and spend time with her friends.

Donna Baillod enjoyed the responsibility as the Art Editor. She loves to fictionalize and draw characters during her free time. The senior commented that "it was an interesting challenge and learning new experiences everyday. I learned a few things here and enjoyed it."

Michele Smith, as the Computer editor, had the responsibility of entering all of the copy and layouts into the computer. This was her first year on the yearbook staff. She also likes to write stories and to go to movies and all of the school sports.

Chris Clark was the Activities Editor. She was in charge of getting all of the pages gathered for her section and made sure that all of the clubs and organizations were covered throughout the school year. She was also involved in the Flags Corps, Senior Play Crew, and several other school activities. In her free time, she likes to go out with her friends.

Sheila Lepak and Julie Maryon are the Sports Editors. They were responsible for over twenty teams and their statistics. Sheila, a sophomore, likes basketball, volleyball, softball, and skiing. She was involved in many school sports.

Julie, a junior, played basketball, volleyball, softball, and enjoys watching "Days of our Lives" in her free time.

Academic Awards

The Academic Awards' program started in the 1986-87 school year. The program is for students who have demonstrated exemplary scholarship during the school year.

To be in the program a student must maintain a 3.5 grade point average in all classes. Eligible students must be enrolled in regular or honors classes, eight during each of their freshmen and sophomore years, and six for each of their junior and senior years. The academic classes are as follows: English, Social Studies, Mathematics, Science, and Foreign Languages.

The awards are different every year. At the end of the first year of eligibility, the underclassmen received their certificates at a presentation held at The County Seat, St. Clair County ISD, in September. Seniors received theirs at the Honors Assembly in May.

At the end of the second year of eligibility, the students received a letter bearing the designation "SCHOLAR". The letter was a different style than the athletic varsity letter.

At the end of the third year, the student received a pin of the "Lamp of Learning."

At the end of the fourth year of eligibility, the student received a special diploma notation in the form of a sticker. The fourth year status was based on the grades of the seven semesters plus midterm grades of the eighth semester.

A display case was purchased by the school for the auditorium area. Pictures of the Academic Achievers were arranged in the display case.

"Knowledge and wisdom lead to greatness."

The coaching staff of the 1987-1988 Quiz Bowl team believed that the members of the team began the year with a positive attitude and demonstrated that they were a very talented and intelligent group of young people.

The quiz bowl contests pit two groups of students in intellectual competition. Each group receives the same question. The first team to supply the correct answer receives a predetermined number of points. The team with the most points at the end of a given period of time is then declared the winner of the contest.

Mr. Don Jarchow and Mr. Jim Puskarich were the coaches of this year's team.

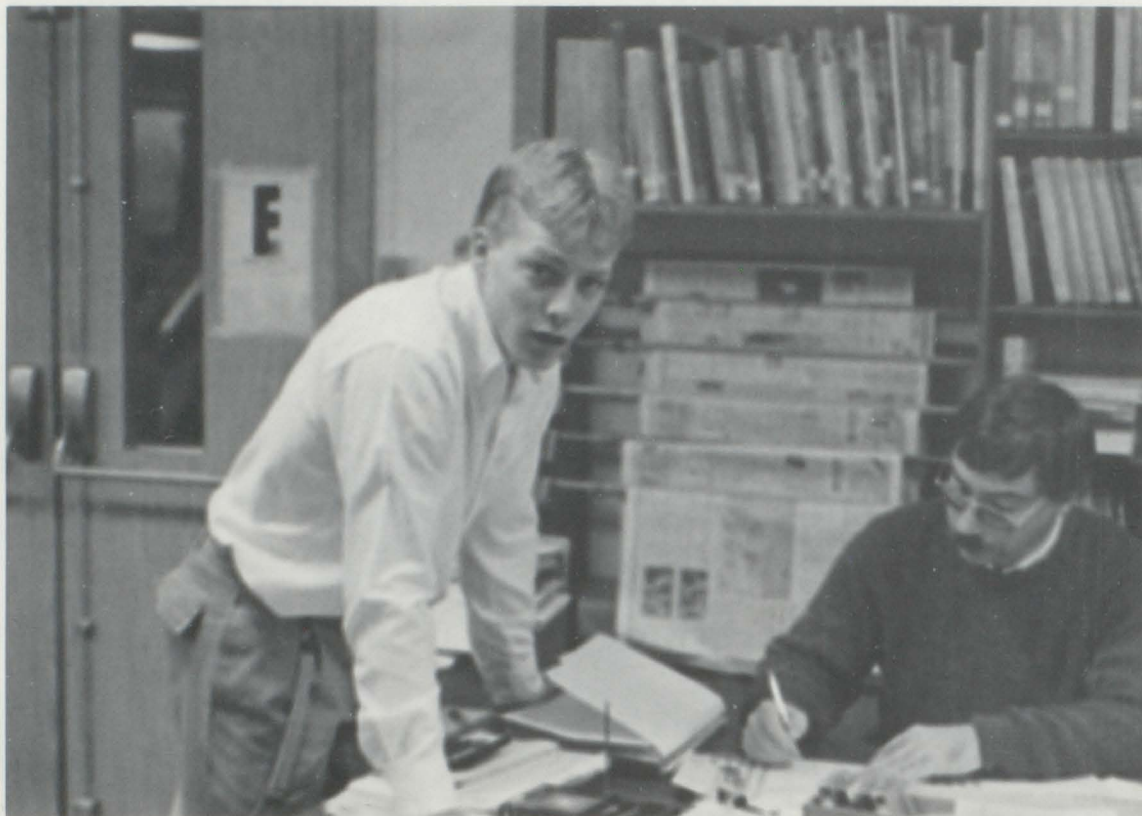

Boys' And Girls'

The 1987-88 Boys' and Girls' Varsity Clubs experienced some changes this year with Ms. O'Dell and Mr. Domke stepping in as advisors. But following tradition, the year still began with the annual cheese and sausage slaes.

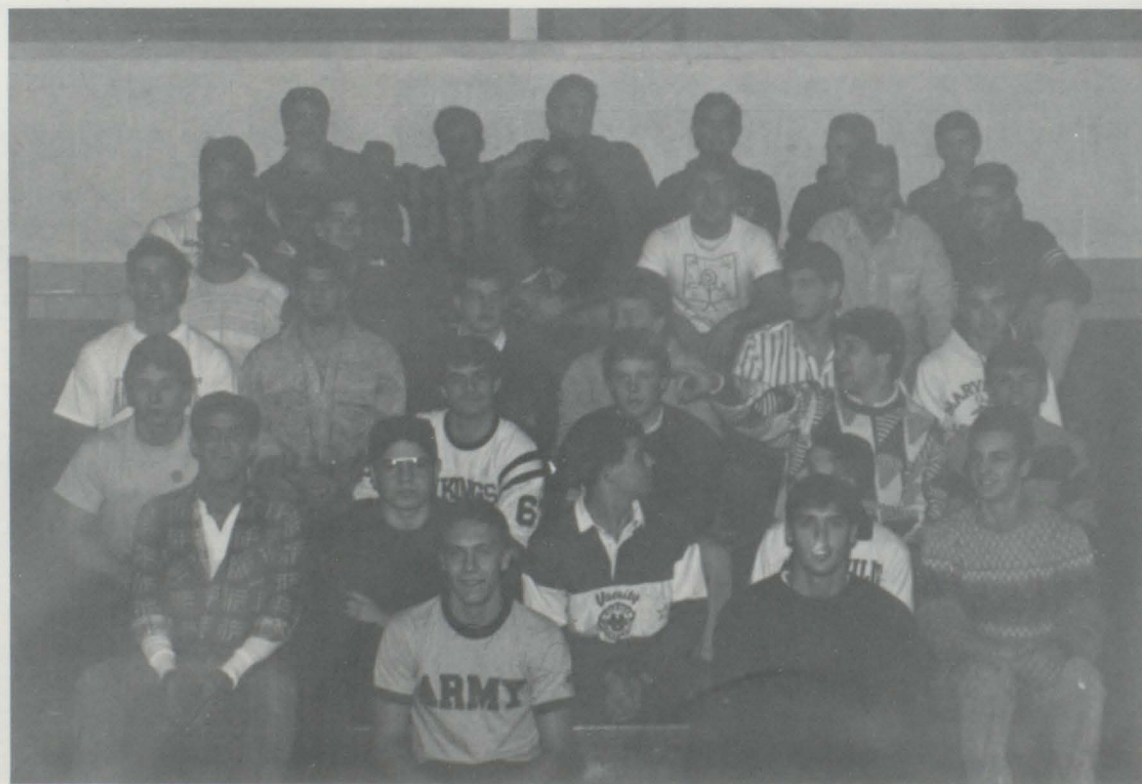

The girls stayed active by running concession stand during the girls' basketball districts. The boys ran concessions at the boys' home basketball games.

The Extra Point Club gives the coach a chance to spend time with most of the football players when they are not in football season.

The officers of the club were Jeff Patterson, Steve Foster, Jason Moody, and Brian Bertovick.

The fundraisers that they completed are the lift-a-thon in March, and a carwash in the summer.

Junior Brian Steinhaus wears the recognizable Extra Point Club jacket as he stops at his locker.

Technology and New Opportunities

"Introduction to Computers" class explores programming with their computers.

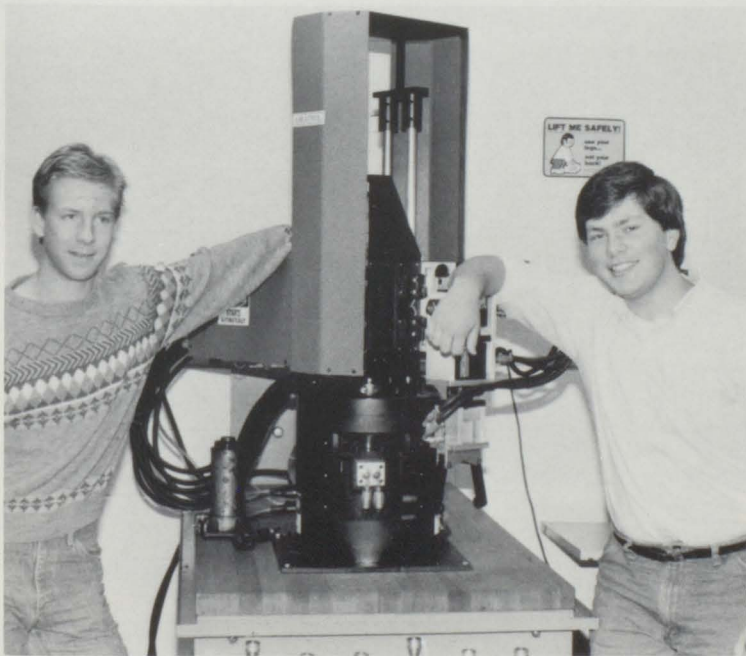

The 1980's saw the introduction and mainstreaming of technological advances into our society and culture.

School systems were challenged to adapt to the new progress and opportunities.

Marysville High School and the St. Clair County Skill Center provided technological opportunities to our students. They took many different forms, but technology is now a part of our education.

The 1987-1988 school year had students involved in a computer lab, a new advanced placement course, the addition of new computers in different departments, word processors replacing typewriters, a language lab, a computer for student use in the library, and new library micro-fiche, and many advanced pieces of equipment at the skill center.

Future plans indicate that the trend will continue.

Help Is Here

The Tutor Club is organized through the counseling department of Marysville High School. Its members are high school students. Tutor services are free and on the students' time. A student can be tutored before, during, or after school.

The Tutor Club was started last year and has been helping many students since then. This year's advisor is Ms. Standel. The officers are as follows:

Coming Home "88"

A new tradition started this year during Coming Home festivities. The new development was to have mini-floats representing each of the classes.

The floats were displayed at the Coming Home pep assembly.

The representative from the freshmen class was Matt Keighley.

The sophomore class representative was Jon Brown.

Dave Wilton was the representative of the junior class.

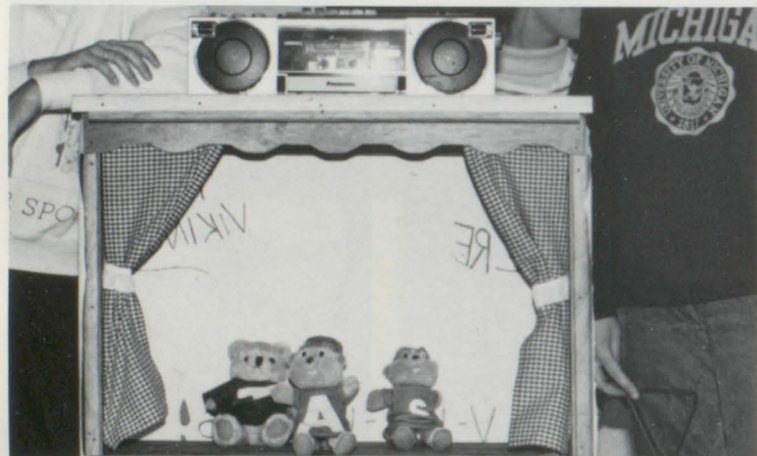

The foreign exchange students, Patrik Hogenans from Sweden and Per Hindsberg from Denmark, were also part of the court.

The three senior candidates for king were Jeff Patterson, Steve Foster, and Joe Miller.

Steve Foster was selected as the 1988 Coming Home King by the student body and was so named during halftime of the basketball game with Algonac that night.

The sophomore wagon was based on the theme of Alvin and the Chipmunks.

The first place freshmen float was a "Float To Victory".

The seniors' float, "Skunk the Pioneers", came in second.

Winnie the Pooh rode on the juniors wagon saying "Sweet Victory".

Baby Jessica after two-and-a-half days in the well.

In October of '87, 18-month-old Jessica McClure, known as baby Jessica, fell down an abandoned well shaft.

Her mother had left Jessica out of her sight for only a short while. Several minutes later, she realized what had happened and called the local police of Midland, Texas.

Soon, news of the trapped child reached friends and neighbors who gladly came to support and help recover the baby.

Rescuers came from all over with machinery and tools. Continuous day and night digging efforts were made to reach Jessica through an adjacent tunnel.

Extensive TV coverage had people across the nation yearning for baby Jessica's safety.

It was a great joy when 58 hours later, Jessica was seen being held in the rescuers' arms.

She suffered from a damaged foot from the fall, and a scar on her forehead.

Gary Hart was in the running for presidential candidacy in 1988. The incident with model Donna Rice caused him to receive bad publicity. Photos showed Hart and Rice "in each others company" at the island of Bimini in March of 87.

While in Denver Hart sent a letter to thousands of campaign workers, contributions, and friends apologizing for this conduct which led to his withdrawal from the campaign.

The summit meeting between Mikhail Gorbachev of the Soviet Union and Ronald Reagan was a critical point in the nuclear arms race. After disagreements between the two leaders, they signed a treaty on intermediate nuclear forces, human rights, and the presence of the Soviets in Afganistan. It stopped the progress of strategic arms relations.

Flight 255:

The biggest local and national news of the 87 year was the plane crash at the Detroit Airport. August 16, Flight 255 crashed onto the expressway while attempting to take off. Over 155 passengers were killed. The only survivor was four-year-old Cecilia Cichan. She became a national celebrity for several weeks. Cards and flowers were sent to her, wishing her a speedy recovery. She suffered badly from third degree burns. Her parents and six-year-old brother died in the crash.

As a result of the TV publicized Iran-Contra hearings, Colonel Oliver North became somewhat of a celebrity or hero. The hearings lasted over two months.

In short, Colonel North was accused of selling needed military weapons and plane parts to Iran in return for hostages.

With the money he received from them, he helped aid Nicaragua in their Civil War. This was all done secretly, but when discovered, became a national topic.

The US never received any hostages, and Iran is still in need of parts.

Oliver North became so popular that businesses began to make Ollie North souvenirs ranging from dolls to T-shirts, bumper stickers to banners. He was even sent letters and flowers from people across the nation.

Jim and Tammy Bakker could have been a big hit on "Lifestyles of the Rich and Famous". Their $172 million, 2300 acre religious theme park, Heritage USA, was only the tip of the iceberg of their lavish spendings. The PTL club slogan could have stood for "Pan The Loot" instead of "Praise The Lord" of "People That Love".

The Bakker's salary and bonuses were estimated at $1.9 million in 1986. Millions were spent on houses and cars for the Bakkers. They even had a large air-conditioned dog house for their dog "Snuggles".

The Bakkers claimed that the board of directors insisted that they be given so much money even though Jim and Tammy refused, but when members of the board were questioned, they said they had no idea of the situation.

Another key dilemma for the Bakkers was the $265,000 that was given to Jessica Hahn for her silence in their relationship. Jessica claimed she had been drugged and put into a room with Jim Bakker and forced to go along with him. That night two other associates of Bakkers were with her also. Jim claimed she was the one who seduced him. The Bakkers' scandal was one of the biggest in the year 1987.

The performing arts helped students to learn poise and self-confidence. Students who have natural talent took advantage of the opportunities offered at M.H.S. to refine and build on these talents through performing arts. Marysville offered Choral Music, Flags, Acting, and Band for the 1987-88 year. The staff hoped that the experiences learned through performing arts training would continue to influence students in a positive way.

Dolly, who was played by Paulette Smarch, is a match maker and tries to set up Horace Vandegelder with a wife even though she herself is in love with him.

Vandegelder, the richest local man in town, sees his relationship with one of Dolly's friends not end up in matrimony.

The story has a happy ending when he and Dolly fall in love and are married.

Miss Bev Butler, the director of the musical, commented, "It is one of the most ambitious undertakings to be accomplished in Marysville."

She also added, "We wouldn't have been able to do it without the help of all the people."

Mr. Don Jarchow directed the choir for the 1987-1988 school year.

The choir members learned how to read music, sing, and perform.

The choir demonstrated its talents and abilities at the Spring Concert.

As part of their class work, each member of the choir had to sing a solo this year for the final exam.

Mr. Jarchow said, "The choir is quite large and an excellent group to work with. They are a bunch of very hard workers."

Athletes in any sport have the opportunity to achieve excellence. But, in order to succeed, a person must have what it takes to be a fine athlete. What does it take to excel in athletics?

The first thing that everyone, not only athletes, must have is determination. The long agonizing hours of practice would be to no avail if the athlete lost his desire to win. The taste of victory keeps the team members hard at work in training for the next game.

Another thing an athlete needs is talent. No one is born a winning athlete. They must seize their opportunities, extend a great deal of effort, hard work and determination in order to perfect that talent.

Viking athletes have proven their commitment to excellence, their determination, and talent by their accomplishments in the past year.

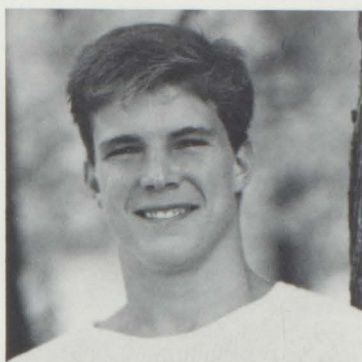

The lessons learned through athletic success gives one the experiences necessary to succeed in life.

Viking Pride Is Head Of The Class

The 1987 Viking Varsity football team started their season with a disappointing loss to Northern. But that didn't stop them. They came back to conquer a shutout S.C.A.L. championship. The Vikings won 5 straight games with their opponents unable to score against them.

Those responsible for the team strategy were: Head Coach Walt Braun, Mr. Jim Venia, Mr. Mike Gkekas, Mr. Brad Wheeler, Mr. Gary Sheffler, and Mr. Kirk Kammer.

The tri-captains of this year's team were Steve Foster, Jeff Patterson, and Matt Gresell.

The Vikings ended their season with an advancement to the Semi-Finals in a challenge against Farmington Hills Harrison. The score was 29-35, and ended a great season for the Mighty Vikings.

Varsity Valhallas

Although the season started late this year for the Varsity Valhallas, when they began, they made up for lost time.

They obtained a new coach, Mrs. Tina Seddon and also an assistant coach, Ms. Lisa Sieman, a former Varsity Valhalla of "86". Their time, patience, and encouragement was greatly appreciated by the whole team.

The 1987-88 Varsity Valhallas team was made up of seventeen girls who worked continually to make this year a success.

They participated in competitions and some pep assemblies, but their main concern was performing and entertaining Marysville High School during halftimes of Varsity Basketball games.

Dawn Sabb, a fourth year member commented, "I have enjoyed being on the Varsity Valhallas, and making new friends every year. Everyone always does neat!"

Heather Long, a second year Varsity member, commented, "I enjoyed being on Valhallas because everyone on the team has great potential and it was a great year."

Tammy Mumford, another second year member, shared her views, "Since we had such a late start, we all had to pull together faster than in the past and I feel it brought us closer together and we had a fun year!"

When asked to comment on this year's season, Ken Steele's thoughts were "We had a great time and I'm gonna miss it." Ken also said that last year most of the seniors had graduated and they had a young team this year. He thinks they will do real well next sea-son.

John Deising said, "Next year will certainly be a re-building year, but the team has very positive attitude and we'll do great next year."

Viking Wrestlers Take It Down

The 1987-88 Viking wrestling team consisted of approximately 30 young men. The team ended their season with a final dual meet record of 9 wins, 8 losses. The team captured the S.C.A.L. Co-Championships title and went on to receive 1st place in the District Championships. The season ended with a loss to Madison Heights Lamphere in the Team Regional Finals. The MIP was awarded to Chris Truszkowski and MVP to Joe Miller and Jeff Patterson.

"I am glad that I had the opportunity to work with these fine young men as part of the team. It has been a tough year, however, I am hopeful that our experiences will help them in the future."

"This has been a year where everyone has kept working and was capped off with a SCAL victory with a total team effort! My favorite match was against East Detroit where 98 Jan Sinda and HWT Randy Quaine both had key matches. This has been a good team and next year could be better."

"The beginning of the season started with anticipation for the team. During the season there were mixed feelings of excitement, disappointment, highs, lows, thrills, heartbreaks, losing some we should have won, and winning some we should have lost. But it paid off in the end. I was satisfied with their accomplishments. In the future I look for improvements and even higher goals."

"This year's team had its ups and downs. The team worked hard as they continually strived for success and perfection, but as a result of having a lot of new wrestlers, sometimes came up a little short on experience. It was a team with a lot of character and a lot of promise for the future. Tri-captains Chris Truszkowski, Joe Miller, and Jeff Patterson led the way with their experience on and off the mat. It was a real pleasure to coach such a fine group of athletes."

Junior Varsity Cheerleaders Learn New Ways

The 1987-88 Junior Varsity Cheerleaders showed their potential at camp last summer. They received ribbons in the following areas: Outstanding Leadership, Outstanding Spirit, and Outstanding Cheering Ability. They also received the Yes! ribbon.

Cheerleader Tammy Boerre said, "I think that cheering is a great sport to be in. As a Viking Cheerleader you represent the school and show your spirit at all times. Cheerleading is more than cheering, it's caring."

Captain Robyn Smith said, "Being a cheerleader is a lot of hard work, but it is worth it to see the student body enthused when the players win."

Cheerleader Angela Gordon said, "When you promote school spirit, it is fun working as a team not as individuals."

The squad was coached by Mrs. Cheryl Rogers.

Freshmen Cheerleaders Lead The Way To SCAL Championship

The 1987-88 Freshman Cheerleaders attended summer cheerleading camp at Michigan State University.

The team was coached by Mrs. Joyce Dawson.

According to Christy Headlee, "Freshman Cheerleading is a lot different from seventh and eighth grade cheerleading, you have to work a lot harder at what you are doing so you can get better at it."

Cheerleader Heather Lane said, "Our squad is special because we have practically grown up together and it makes a special connection between us."

Tryouts this year were held at a late date but that didn't stop the JV Valhallas from making this year a success.

This year's 1987-88 squad seemed to please the crowds. It consisted of thirteen girls. Members of the squad believed that they worked very hard but had fun. They attended competitions and performed during halftimes of JV Basketball games.

Their new coach was Mrs. Darla Fletcher and her assistant was Ms. Jill Foster, a former Varsity Valhallas of 1985.

A comment from one member of the squad was, "Everyone worked well together and did a great job."

Coach Fletcher and Coach Foster pleasantly watch their team warm-up.

Junior Varsity Girls' Basketball

The overall record of this year's Girls' Junior Varsity Basketball team was 15 wins and 5 losses. The S.C.A.L. record was 7 wins and 3 losses. The entire team improved tremendously both individually and as a team," commented Miss O'Dell.

This years leading scorers were Sheila Lepak, Jenny Hall, and Kim Emery.

Eric Lewanski prepares to play defense on his man and the ball.

"As a coach, I always want my players to work as hard as they can," said Coach Kirk Smith. "The effort that this team demonstrated was strong. The biggest improvement that I would like to have seen is more consistency in their play. This team had some very hard working young men," Coach Smith added.

Coach Smith believed that the season was frustrating at times, but he saw some improvements. He also believed that the team had excellent young people that will be excellent in anything that they want to do.

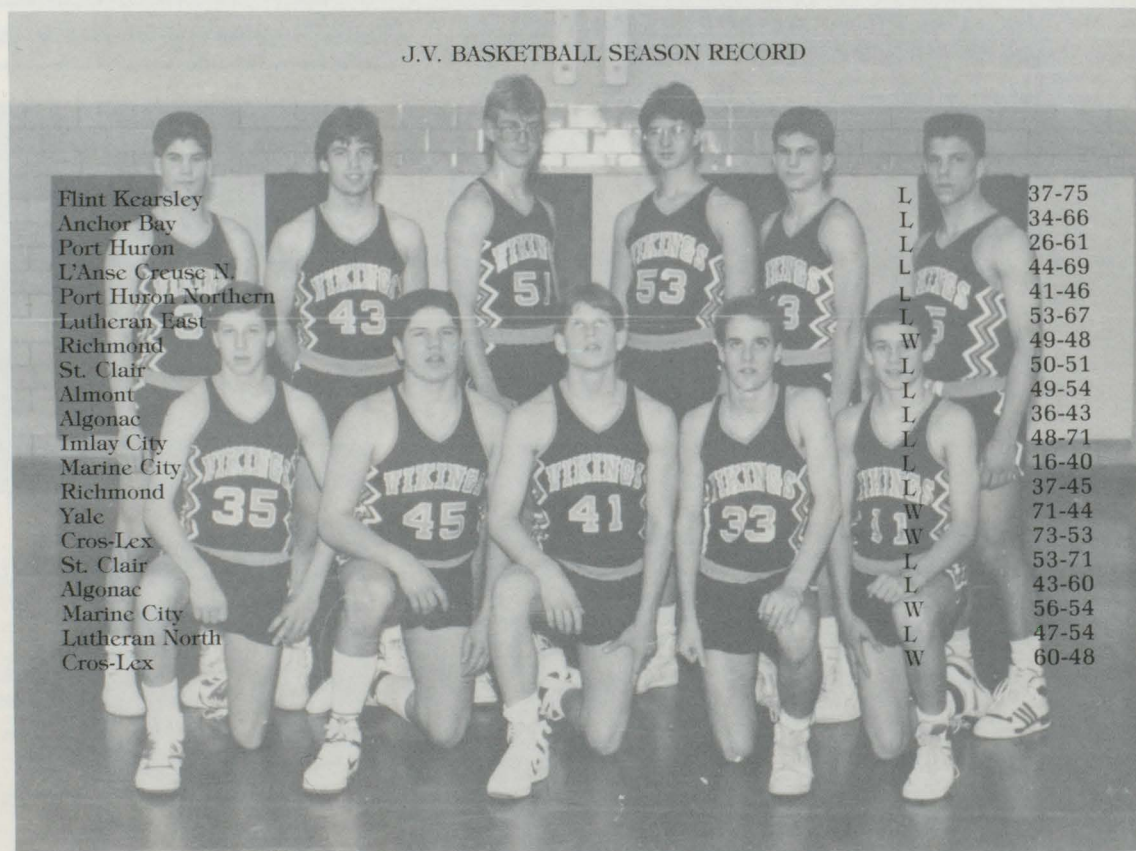

Coach Smith thought that the team's captain, Brian Steinhaus, did an excellent job leading the team through his play.

The 1987-88 Wrestlerettes consisted of sixteen girls who helped cheer on the wrestling team. A wrestlerette's line of duty consists of making locker signs, selling or working at the home meets, and cheering for the team.

The squad was advised by Mrs. Sue Patterson. The tri-captains were Jenni Artman, Tami Balla, and Amy Johnson.

Each member of your family, whether young or old can benefit from the experience of a spa in your home. Countless hours can be shared within this family setting in enjoyment and relaxation. A year round joy. Sensuous warmth-soothing relaxing tropical waters all year long.

Think of the warm pleasure on a chilly evening in the luxury of a Dietz Spa-what could be better! Someone you love, laughing, talking, making plans or just sharing a quiet time together.

After a hectic day at work imagine yourself stepping into your own secret world, surrounded by refreshing heated water and billions of bursting, swirling bubbles that instantly begin to relieve the tension and pains of everyday life. A truly relaxing affair!

An original design of all fiberglass construction, manufactured from especially compounded resins that provide durability, strength and beauty.

Because of the unique modular design each unit passes easily through most household doorways allowing a full depth spa in even the most "Hard to Fit" locations.
